Aahh! Holiday Season! Uplifting mood, smell of cinnamon and hot chocolate by the fireplace, family gatherings and.. a headache of choosing presents. Choosing the right one for some people might be a nightmare, especially if you haven't seen them in a while or they come in a group and you don't want anyone to feel forgotten. Especially for these cases, here's a little Gift Guide from Holiday Orbs.

5 unexpected Orbs for 5 expected people

A male colleague that you want to get closer to

WISE Orb is a good catch for a man. Some silly men don't like flowers. Because they are too masculine for that. That's when the power of fern comes in handy as it's believed to bring wisdom to their hairy heads, that we want to rumple so much. And they just keep looking in a different direction during a coffee break.

A cousin who wants to get married and has been single for the last 5 years

LOVING Orb was created especially for such cases. One of the first Orbs ever made it keeps to be one of the most popular ones. No wonder, as marigold is believed to predict a life-changing encounter with a loved one, that will eventually become a faithful life partner.

Mom

C'mon, you must admit that you always look for gifts last minute. At least for us, it's usually "Omg, omg I've completely forgotten about a gift for mom!" That's when it's time for PURE Orb with chamomile which, literally, means "mother" in Latin.

Warmongering fruitarian friend

Frutarians are known to be fierce warriors. And aside from battling with them for food reasons, you still have to wage your own war on what to give them as a Holiday present. That's the moment to use your secret weapon UNFADING Orb, that's made with oregonian adler cones (collected from the ground, of course) and red cedar, that's called "A Tree of Life" in Europe.

Next door neighbor

The hit of season 2015, MEMORABLE Orb with static inside is a universal and colorful Gift for pretty much any person. And who can fit the description of "any person" better than your next door neighbor? Maybe next time he will remember not to call the police when your little housewarming party gets outta control
